Relevant Experience

Microsoft ADC — Student League Member Mar 2023 — Present

- I participate in pair programming sessions, data structures and algorithm learning cycles, and web and API development tracks using TypeScript and C#.
- I publish articles on Hashnode to share insights and knowledge gained from the learning cycles.
- Collaborated with other league members to ship an MVP that applied data structures and algorithms concepts to a real-world problem.
- Leading the development of Medlink, a web application that reduces the time and hassle for patients to access medical services and facilitates secure data transfer across hospitals, using TypeScript, Next.js, AI, blockchain, and Azure cloud storage technologies.

Creative Start, Nigeria — Front End Developer Dec 2022 — Jan 2023

- Developed, and shipped production code for the company's first-ever website primarily using JavaScript, Next.js, and Tailwind CSS.
- Performed quality assurance tests on various sites to ensure cross-browser compatibility and mobile responsiveness.

Celedom, New York, US — Front End Developer Sept 2022 — Dec 2022

- Developed the company's new project and enabled website localization in 30+ languages using React and i18next.
- Collaborated with designers, project managers, and other engineers to transform creative concepts into production realities using agile methodologies.
- Performed code reviews and provided feedback to colleagues to ensure coding standards and best practices using Git and GitHub.
